Mynor Castillo

Mynor is from New Orleans, Louisiana. After 25 years of dedicated service (4 years in the US Marine Corps and 21 years in the US Air Force), he retired, in 2006. Having lived in numerous places within the United States, Mynor has gone international, now residing in Wiesbaden, Germany.

Upon his military retirement, he worked for one of the largest financial services company that supports the military community, USAA. With more than two decades of sales, management, communication and leadership development and training experience, Mynor draws on his extensive military and corporate background to facilitate his workshops and seminars. A lifelong learner, his favourite career advice is this: “Every person you meet knows something you don’t. Learn from them.”

When not working, Mynor and his wife, Judy, can be found travelling and enjoying the historical architecture, cultures and foods of Europe.
