

Dave McKeown

Program Leader

Bio

Dave McKeown is a leadership expert and growth advisor who helps leaders achieve extraordinary results by elevating their focus and aligning their teams. He specializes in increasing leadership performance and effectiveness across various industries.

Dave is the author of The Self-Evolved Leader, a sought-after keynote speaker, and a leadership trainer. He has shared his strategies with diverse organizations—including Bank of America, the British Government, Apple, Google, FedEx, and Salesforce—as well as at prestigious conferences such as Inc. 5000 and Growco.

His delivery style has been described as "the perfect mix between Simon Sinek and Gary Vaynerchuk," combining high energy and inspiration with practical, actionable insights. His work engages leaders through interactive sessions that challenge conventional thinking and inspire growth. Key areas of expertise include leadership development, organizational growth strategies, executive coaching, team performance optimization, and change management

Originally from Northern Ireland, Dave now enjoys the sunshine of Southern California, where he lives with his beloved dog, Benny, and continues to inspire leaders through his podcast Lead Like You Give a Damn and column for Inc.
