

Dave McKeown

Program Leader

Bio

Leadership expert Dave McKeown helps individuals, teams and organizations lead with authenticity, purpose and effectiveness. He has a wealth of experience connecting individual and team performance to improved business results; his particular focus is on fast-growing, complex organizations.

Dave started his career as a consultant at Accenture, then moved on to become COO and then president of Predictable Success, a boutique consultancy that helps complex businesses achieve scalability. While at Predictable Success he also ran Inc. Consulting, a joint venture with Inc. Media, which helped companies on, or aspiring to be on, the Inc. 5000 achieve consistent, scalable growth.

As founder and CEO of Outfield Leadership, Dave now speaks, coaches and trains on the mindset, skill set and tool kit needed to master the craft of leadership. His goal is to help organizations build a culture of real and authentic but ultimately results-driven leadership. He has shared his leadership strategies at Inc. 5000 and GrowCo conferences, and with Bank of America, the British government, Entrepreneur's Organization, BambooHR and countless others. He has also worked with leaders at Spectrum Health, Renewal by Andersen, Akamai, NYSE and many smaller, fast-growing organizations.

Dave is the host of the podcast Lead Like You Give a Damn and writes a weekly online leadership column for Inc.

A native of Ireland, Dave now resides in southern California with his wife, Paris, and staffie, Maggie.

Sector Experience

- Healthcare
- Finance
- Government
- Technology
- Publishing